About The House Next Door

The mission of The House Next Door is to nurture and empower families to help build stronger communities.

Since 1976, The House Next Door has been providing mental health therapy and family support services in Volusia and Flagler Counties.

We are a dedicated non-profit helping families heal, recover, and transition through life events in a healthy way.

Our programs directly impact underserved families with mental health therapy, assisting students who are struggling in school, providing parenting classes, helping prevent child abuse, and assisting children and their caregivers in coping with the trauma of sexual abuse.

The core components of all of the programs at The House Next Door strengthen the family unit. This, in turn, strengthens the community.
